Abbot Enrollment Biggest In History

Abbot Academy will begin its school year Sept. 20 with the largest enrollment in the school's history - a total of 247 students including 193 boarders and 54 day students.

Eighteen of the new students are relatives of Abbot alumnae.

In the day student group will be girls from Lawrence, Lowell, North Andover, Boxford and Reading, a larger area than covered previously and one in line with last year's vote of the trustees to extend the geographical limit.

Another first for Abbot is the enrolling of four girls who have participated this summer in the Dartmouth-Mount Holyoke ABC - Program (A Better Chance) which stresses intensive training in English and mathematics. This program is part of the Independent Schools Talent Search Program which strives to give underprivileged gifted students an opportunity to further their education. The ABC program is under the direction of Dean Richard Dey of Dartmouth College, a former Phillips Academy instructor.

Andover girls who will be among the Academy's new students are: Diana Brainerd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric I. Brainerd, 97 Reservation Rd.; Joan Faro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Faro, 11 Marilyn Rd.; Stephanie Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Fitzgerald, 48

Townsman Voke Story Coming

Next Week in the TOWNSMAN: A picture story of the school life of nine Andover boys, enrolled at the Greater Lawrence Regional Technical & Vocational High School which opened for its first term Monday.

Phillips Academy will open its doors Friday for the 187th session, admitting this term a total of 861 students. Of this number, 29 percent will receive upwards of $300,000 in financial aid, Academy officials said.

New at the Academy are fifteen men who already have or will assume faculty and administrative posts.

Dr. Julian S. Kaiser arrived this summer to assume the position of Medical Director which was formerly held by Dr. Donald Clark. The new school physician, his wife, and three children had made their home in Hartford, Conn., where Dr. Kaiser was in private practice. A P.A. alumnus, Dr. Kaiser holds a B.A. from Yale University and a M.D. from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University.

New men on the teaching faculty come to P.A. from a variety of backgrounds. August T. Jaccaci, Jr., instructor in art, has most recently been teaching at the Rhode Island School of Design where he received the M.F.A. degree. He also holds B.A. and M.A.T. degrees from Harvard.

Dr. Rom N. Minne comes to Andover from Culver Military Academy in Indiana where he has been chairman of the Chemistry

Walking Tour Monday In Immigrant City

The second in a series of walking tours through the Immigrant City (Lawrence) will be held Monday with the tour leaving at 2 p.m. from in front of Essex Co. offices at the East end of Essex St. (No. 6).

Conducting the walk will be Thomas W. Leavitt, director of the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum.

Scheduled to run about an hour and a half, the tour is divided into three parts. During the first, the guide identifies and explains the role of the Merrimack River, the dam and the canals in the history of early Lawrence.

The second hitch covers the significant homes, schools, stores and churches of the Immigrant City in 1885. During the final segment, Leavitt explains the textile factory system as it was functioning in 1912, on the eve of the famous mill workers' strike.

Specific items on the tour agenda will be the Essex Co., the Everett, Kunhardt, Duck and Pemberton Mills, the Walton and Newbury Street Schools, the Garden Street Methodist Church, the Atlantic Fire Engine House, the row houses on Orchard St. and Holy Rosary Church.

The tour is a free community educational service of the Museum. No reservations need be made.

Members of the Museum staff will direct the same tour every Monday in September and October, beginning at the same place and the same hour as the one set for Sept. 20.

Officials Consider Sewer Items

Two mutual-interest sewerage subjects were discussed Friday by Andover and Lawrence officials, meeting at the Lawrence City Hall.

Out of the meeting came an assurance from Lawrence Mayor John J. Buckley that his Council will look into the possibility of permitting some West Andover residents to hook into a South Lawrence sewer line and that it will put an end to the dumping of fill etc. on the Andover outfall line that runs through Lawrence to the Merrimack.

The first topic relates to the need for an arrangement which would compensate Andover for the fact that 22 Lawrence taxpayers are serviced by Andover sewer lines in border areas. Four Andover home owners receive similar service from Lawrence.

Manager Richard Bowen told Mayor Buckley that this community would be much more interested in an extension of the reciprocal arrangement to give 18 Andover residents an opportunity to tie into the Lawrence sewerage system where it has been extended to handle waste from the new Regional Vocational & Technical High School.

Buckley and his city engineer, Santo S. Nicolosi, reported that the capacity of pumping equipment in this area could prove a roadblock to such a service, but both agreed to check out the technicalities.

Bowen was asked to put in writing his request for a pro or con policy decision from the Lawrence City Council.

Nicolosi in a later interview said that the capacity of the Andover St. Pumping Station, the one in question, is 400 gals per minute and that it is already over taxed. He explained that the Voke school was tied in after its directors agreed to construction of an expensive holding tank where sewerage is held for off-peak release at night.

The engineer further added that greater potential development of the Lawrence Industrial Park is another stumbling block to Andover residential tie-ins. He agreed, however, that though homeowners would be unlikely to want the expense of installing an off-peak storage tank, new industries coming to the park might conceivably agree to such a stipulation.

City Engineer Nicolosi said that as a planner he has ceased to think of political limits and feels all future sewer planning etc. should be made with practical geographical limits in mind. In keeping with this attitude, he feels it would be much more beneficial to think in terms of extending Lawrence's Shanty Pond sewer line, a six foot main into which new lines accessible to Andover could feed, than to limit the program to consideration of a comparative handful of homes.

Of major interest to Sewer Supt. Donald C. Bassett, also at the meeting, was the rumored possibility that the City of Lawrence was contemplating additional dumping on Andover's outfall line in the Costello Park-Crawford St. area. The line has been damaged on two previous occasions.

Nicolosi said he knew of no plans for the dumping of city waste in that area and reported that a New Hampshire contractor who had been known to dump in at Costello Park had already been notified to discontinue the practice.

Of continued concern to Don Bassett is the kind of unofficial dumping done over the outfall by private snow removal contractors and others. The town is known ready to seek an injunction if necessary to protect this strategic sewerage connection.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Karakoosh of Miami, Fla. spent the weekend as guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Athscow of Lovejoy Rd.

LGH Seeking Volunteers

The addition of the new wing at Lawrence General Hospital has created the demand for extra volunteer workers for the Recreation-Therapy Service.

The therapy service is one of the newest at the hospital and involves the distribution of magazines and books, the sale of newspapers and the circulation of a Patient Recreation Card. On the cart are such things as cards, checkers, a variety of easy-to-do handicrafts and knitting.

The new service relies primarily on the voluntary contribution of both time and materials. Both the books and activities on the cart are provided by the Hospital Aid Assn.

Women interested in working with the therapy unit should contact Mrs. John C. Bloom, 10 Os-good St.

Institute Expanding Quarters

The expansion program at Andover Institute of Business, 90 Main St., will be completed in time for the opening of the 1965 fall term Sept. 20, Charles Liponis, president, said this week.

The program involves the take-over and remodeling of the entire building, more than doubling the space available for classrooms, administrative offices and student recreational facilities. The Institute has been occupying the second floor of the former A & P building.

Passers-by will be able to watch the school's IBM 1401 Computer in operation through a large display-type window on the first floor. The computer system is but a part of the more than $300,000 worth of modern data processing equipment which will be located on that floor.

President Liponis stated that, while the new expansion will greatly benefit the day students, the program was undertaken largely with the school's Evening Division in mind. In Andover and in the Institute's three branch schools - Brockton, Lynn and Springfield - a total of approximately 1,500 evening students will be enrolled this year. For the most part, these students are adults seeking job retraining.

The institute will display its new facilities at an Open House Sept. 17 and Sept. 18. These dates are also the final registration days for day students enrolling for the 1965 term. The general public is invited and the hours are noon to 9:30 p.m. on Friday and 9:30 to 6 p.m. on Saturday. Demonstrations on the 1401 computer and other data processing equipment are planned.

Knights Plan Installation

Andover Council 11078, Knights of Columbus, will hold its formal installation of officers at Briarcliff Sunday at 8 p.m.

The Chelmsford Council installation staff will perform the ceremony with Michael Taylor, district deputy, officiating.

A buffet social and social will complete the evening.

On Sept. 27 the Council will honor the clergy at a Pastor's Night beginning with a ham dinner to be served at 6:30 p.m. Among those present will be the clergy from St. Augustine's and St. Robert Bellarmine Churches. Reservations may be made by contacting Ted Surette.

Due by Sept. 24 are reservations for the First Anniversary Ball which is to be held Oct. 2 at Briarcliff. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m., followed by dancing.

CHARLES LIPONIS

Institute Expanding Quarters

The expansion program at Andover Institute of Business, 90 Main St., will be completed in time for the opening of the 1965 fall term Sept. 20, Charles Liponis, president, said this week.

The program involves the take-over and remodeling of the entire building, more than doubling the space available for classrooms, administrative offices and student recreational facilities. The Institute has been occupying the second floor of the former A & P building.

Passers-by will be able to watch the school's IBM 1401 Computer in operation through a large display-type window on the first floor. The computer system is but a part of the more than $300,000 worth of modern data processing equipment which will be located on that floor.

President Liponis stated that, while the new expansion will greatly benefit the day students, the program was undertaken largely with the school's Evening Division in mind. In Andover and in the Institute's three branch schools - Brockton, Lynn and Springfield - a total of approximately 1,500 evening students will be enrolled this year. For the most part, these students are adults seeking job retraining.

The Institute will display its new facilities at an Open House Sept. 17 and Sept. 18. These dates are also the final registration days for day students enrolling for the 1965 term. The general public is invited and the hours are noon to 9:30 p.m. on Friday and 9:30 to 6 p.m. on Saturday. Demonstrations on the 1401 computer and other data processing equipment are planned.

Knights Plan Installation

Andover Council 1078, Knights of Columbus, will hold its formal installation of officers at Briarcliff Sunday at 8 p.m.

The Chelmsford Council installation staff will perform the ceremony with Michael Taylor, district deputy, officiating.

A buffet social and social will complete the evening.

On Sept. 27 the Council will honor the clergy at a Pastor's Night beginning with a ham dinner to be served at 6:30 p.m. Among those present will be the clergy from St. Augustine's and St. Robert Bellarmine Churches. Reservations may be made by contacting Ted Surette.

Due by Sept. 24 are reservations for the First Anniversary Ball which is to be held Oct. 2 at Briarcliff. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m., followed by dancing.

Rees Family Makes Room For Swedish AFS Student

The family of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Rees of 157 Main St., Andover quickened its pace two weeks ago with the arrival of Victor Maksymenko of Jakobsberg, Sweden. The Reeses are Victor's host family for the year while he is studying at Phillips Academy on an American Field Service scholarship.

The young Swede should have no trouble adapting to P.A. life, since his host is an instructor in chemistry at P.A. and Tom, Jr. begins his upper year this fall.

Victor enters the Academy as a senior although he has already completed the equivalent of the American high school course. When he returns to Sweden he will finish the two year course of study necessary for his admission to the University of Stockholm where he plans to study mathematics and science.

The AFS student has followed his father in this interest in science. A native of Kiev, Russia, Victor's father was a doctor in the U.S.S.R., but when the Maksymenkos left their homeland for Sweden in 1951, he was unable to continue practicing without Swedish citizenship papers. Currently he is an assistant in a medical research laboratory.

There is no indecision in Victor's mind about his reasons for coming to the U.S. for a year of study. Neither is there any question about his enthusiasm. "Please tell everyone how happy I am to come," he grins, "and how much I like everything!" He believes that a full command of English is essential to his future career in mathematics and physics and sees the role of a scientist as an international one. This global concern sparks his conversation. He speaks enthusiastically about the summer he and his older sister traveled to Rumania and Turkey with a youth agency. He has also found time to participate in a political science program sponsored by the Swedish Radio Corp. Should P.A. drama and musical groups learn of Victor's stage experience two years ago in the Stockholm productions of "Oliver" and "The White Horse", they are likely to urge him to audition for P.A. productions; Victor himself insists that he has put away his childhood interest and must devote most of his time to his course this year (English, chemistry, physics, mathematics, and American history) if he is to pursue his career in science. He looks forward, however, to playing soccer at the Academy which he says is like the Swedes' game of football. He will also go out for high jump during the track season.

Victor is perhaps most enthusiastic about meeting his classmates at P.A. in lively discussions and anticipates having to answer some difficult questions in his role as an AFS student from Sweden.

You Save Double on CO-OP Everyday Prices

The price of supermarket weekly specials is quite clear from the weekly announcements even if the quality is not.

Even more important for the average housewife is the price of everyday items which make up the bulk of her weekly purchases. Everyday items are seldom advertised. And the price is confused by the current battle over stamps of many hues.

At the CO-OP, the everyday price structure is both clear and simple.

1. Our regular prices are LOW. Compare them for yourself; we do. This means that we save you real money at the time of purchase.

2. Every item in our store is subject to the unique CO-OP CASH REFUND. This means that we return our net savings to you as real money. We don't pass out scrip.

Everybody is eligible to share in the CO-OP's double-saving plan affecting every-day groceries.

In the morning and evening women may tour the building, with its renovated sewing and craft rooms, visit teachers and see what classes are being offered during the fall term. Among classes scheduled are: bridge, cake decorating, car care, cone and Della Robla wreath making, Christmas crafts, fencing, knitting, ping pong, rug braiding and hooking, sewing, sports, trimmastics and water colors.

This year both Wednesday and Thursday mornings are Homemakers' Holidays, and a nursery service will be available to mothers of pre-school youngsters attending YW classes.

Anyone desiring the new folder of activities may phone the Greater Lawrence YWCA.

Church Invites Sunday Guests

For Al Lotz, Ernie Stewart, Jack Pearson, Jim Johnstone, John Richman, Robin Neill, Fred Kaufman, Ray Chadwick and Art Wood, this summer has not been one of rest and relaxation.

This "Invitation Sunday" Committee of North Andover's First Methodist Church has been spending its free time making personal calls on families in the North Andover area. Church members, non-members and prospective members, located through last winter's "ecumenical" telephone census, are being invited to come to church.

The specific events planned to culminate these weeks of calling are a free buffet dinner, and coffee hour on Sunday, September 26. The coffee hour is planned from 9:45 to 10:45 a.m. and would include the people attending the 9 o'clock service and early arrivals at the 11 o'clock service. The dinner will be served in the parish hall following the second service. Children are welcome at all the planned events.

Newcomers' President Fresh Blood For Andover

(A Townsman News Feature)

Every town needs frequent transfusions of new blood and Andover can consider itself healthily lucky if its donors are all as top quality as the Newcomers Club's 1965 president, Mrs. Rudolph G. Morin.

Present members of this organization for new faces and prospective members will have a chance to see what the TOWNSMAN means Tuesday when Betty Morin will be hostess at a Welcoming Tea to be held at 1:30 p.m. at West Parish Church to stimulate interest in club activities.

The tall, slim mother of two under-two boys, Mrs. Morin exudes calm laced with charm, and small wonder. She has lived a busy life in her 28 years.

In 1957, fresh out of the University of Kentucky, Betty Morin went to Paris on a six-week, Kiwanis sponsored student exchange. It was the right place and the right time, and in short order the college graduate had met Rudolph Morin, a Manchester, N.H., student enrolled at Lowell Technological Institute. Marriage followed in 1959 and after that came eight lock-stock-and-baggage moves in eight years.

First it was New England where Mrs. Morin taught in the Lincoln elementary school system while her husband did graduate work at Lowell Tech. Then it was Fontainebleau, France where Rudolph Morin was enrolled at the European Institute of Business Administration, preparing bi-lingually for the international end of the textile business. The Morins rushed to Paris in that year for quick courses in German and French, moving in September to the chateau that was a dormitory for eight students from some 18 countries.

Betty Morin was one of two wives, encamped with no more official duties than responsibility for afternoon tea. She took advantage of the idle hours to keep at French lessons, tour the museums, put in some time as a secretary at the International School and otherwise wallow in the luxury of being a bride in one of the world's most romantic settings.

In the second year of their French stay, Morin was an assistant instructor in finance and control and the couple moved into a French house which came complete with a wine cellar. It also boasted a heating problem - a coal furnace plunked in the first-floor living room - that it took the bridegroom the better part of a year to master.

During this period Betty got back to work, teaching at the Fontainebleau American School for NATO children.

Back in the U.S., Rudolph Morin went into the second year of Harvard Business School and his wife returned to teaching in nearby Lincoln.

Two years ago, when her husband came to Malden Spinning & Dyeing in Lawrence, the couple settled down at 16 Wildrose Dr., off Lowell St.

Mrs. Morin's first project tied in with a hobby-interest of hers, decorating. She went home to Kentucky for a few weeks to sit down with a family friend who is a professional interior decorator.

The result is a home resplendent with a magnificent Oriental rug, European antiques as accessories and a beige, muted green and apricot color scheme that is a backdrop for the slightly red-haired Mrs. Morin. Eye-catching in her living room, is an English wing chair (see photo) upholstered with a crewel embroidered fabric that was part of a set of 150-year-old draperies from an Italian villa. Betty Morin's purchase abroad? Unfortunately, No. Furniture buying was the item on their agenda for a third year in France, but a Harvard scholarship brought them home too soon.

Mrs. Morin reports that the Newcomers Club currently has a calling list of 200, which is some indication that Andover hasn't stopped growing despite the curtailing of employment at Raytheon and some other industries in the area.

First on her presidential agenda is the forming of a Go-To-Boston group which she says will have as its major objective removing the mental roadblocks that keep newcomers to area "frightened of going into to Boston."

Museum trips, a bus tour, a restaurant stop and an afternoon or evening at a theater or two are the kind of things she has in mind, some organization for females only and others for couples.

Among her other hopes, one that there will be sufficient interest to spawn a garden club which fits in with her own personal interests.

When Mrs. Morin isn't keeping house, coping with Newcomers', tending three week old Geoffrey and keeping an eye on 21-month old William, she is keeping up with her music through rehearsals for her work as organist for Faith Lutheran Church. She hopes eventually to get back to lessons, but meanwhile she has 10 years of piano training and five of organ study to fall back on.

And in the more distant future? A return to teaching, perhaps. She is much interested in the teaching techniques of the now internationally known Italian Educator, Montessori, whose approaches to nursery school education have at least influenced most such programs offered in the U.S.

Municipal Friendship

After an extended delay, Lawrence and Andover municipal officials sat down Friday to talk about mutual sewer interests.

For one thing, they broached the subject of a settlement to compensate for the fact that 22 South Lawrence taxpayers are tied into the Andover sewerage system and that four Andover homeowners are serviced by Lawrence lines.

To the question of "How much?" Manager Richard Bowen replied that Andover would be much more interested in enlarging the reciprocal arrangement than in a dollar for dollar solution. Can Lawrence, for example, permit some of our West Andover residents to tie into the same Lawrence line that serves the new Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical High School, located just inside the Andover line?

This was discussed at the time the Voke school sewer line was laid, and dismissed. It may yet be a technical impossibility, the capacity of a pumping station being the major factor.

But at least Mayor Buckley has promised to give the question solid consideration and come up with a firm policy decision which can become a base for Andover sewerage plans in this border area.

We think what Manager Bowen has proposed in the way of neighborly cooperation opens the door for broader mutual interest discussions of long range water and sewer problems that cannot be forever postponed.

The state has been pressing communities which dump into the Merrimack for sewerage solutions that would curb pollution. A $21 million regional filtration plant has been recommended as just such a solution for Lawrence, Andover, North Andover and Methuen and preliminary plans for the cooperative venture have been outlined.

The next step is a four-community meeting preparatory to forming a regional authority, seeking the necessary legislation and the local referendums that it will take to push the project through. Hanging over our collective heads is the already threatened possibility that the Federal government may come in and force the issue if the Commonwealth cannot hurry up community support for what has become a national waterways clean-up campaign.

Andover has good reason to care about what happens to pollution abatement plans for the Merrimack. For one thing, it will cost the town an estimated 30 percent less to work through a regional authority than to take a local approach. For another thing, our growth patterns indicate that within 10 years we will be drinking from the Merrimack, where we and our neighbors now dump RAW sewerage.

We can hope that the aura of cooperation that prevailed at Friday's discussion of a relatively minor set of problems can be nurtured to speed action on, first of all, the formation of a regional sewerage authority.

It's going to be a costly business, but it's no use playing ostrich.

Hats Off

Hats off to Manager Richard J. Bowen for his preparation of a prize-winning annual report.

The Massachusetts Selectmen's Assn. has recognized his "Both Sides of the Coin" as the best 1965 town report prepared in the Commonwealth for a community with a population of 10,000 to 19,999.

Bowen and the Selectmen will take the bows, but the people of Andover are the real winners. It is they who benefit most from a report that makes the town's business easy to comprehend.

What Our Readers Say:

To the Editor of the Townsman
The August 26th issue of The Townsman contained one of the longest editorials I have ever read in this newspaper in more than twenty-two years of reading the paper regularly.

The woebegone opening clause "Lauriston Ward is gone" failed to arouse my sympathy. From that point on, I read more inaccurate and biased statements than I can recall ever having read in The Townsman.

During three of the four years in which Mr. Ward was in the school system, so was I. My retirement in 1964 (after twenty-one years in the Andover Public Schools) is in no way related to this criticism. No personal antagonism existed between Mr. Ward and me. I do, however, know the system pretty thoroughly; as a private citizen who still feels quite as interested in a good school department, I feel the right to dispute the attitude you have expressed editorially.

I waited and watched for the curriculum coordination, which his rather imposing title promised, I learned only two things about his feelings: (1) his great devotion to the 21-inch Classroom, (2) his belief that English usage was not terribly important. I had little respect for either attitude, as I am sure he knew. If his disagreement with my feeling about teaching had been made clear to me under the more ridiculous part of his title "Director of Instruction" perhaps I should have been directed by Mr. Ward on how to teach English without regard for its accuracy. After my first meeting with Mr. Ward, it was clear to me that his knowledge of the intricacies of Guidance was (at best) superficial.

A careful re-reading of Mr. Ward's last Annual Report is sufficient to indicate his cheerful contribution to larger appropriations and more committees. If he made any other contributions to the school system, they were trivial and controversial. The administrative and teaching staffs had long maintained a record of high quality in the schools, and I have many evidences of that in my personal files; this information is also available in the Public School Records.

It is customary for any administrator who needs an Assistant to recognize the need and request such assistance. When Mr. Erickson feels such need, he has the twice evidenced confidence of the town in his superintendency. Newly arrived amateurs cannot compete in their judgment with competent professional judgment. The Superintendent of Schools and all of his staff must be free to do their work without the aid of any specific group in the town.

Until such a program is followed, I honestly believe that the School Department will be increasingly handicapped, regardless of the good intentions of such groups. The elected School Committee, alone, has the legal right to policy making. It also has the responsibility for its decisions.

Tree Care Old Story Here; Tree Dept. Still A Baby

(A Townsman News Feature)

Part III, The Final Article In a Series

Andover has had municipal tree protection for a long time, but the history of the present tree department is brief.

Prior to 1954, the town had an elected tree warden who served a three year term each time around. After what has been termed by one observer as some "commotion", the General Court authorized Andover to make its Tree and Moth Departments an arm of the Board of Public Works, under the jurisdiction of the Highway Dept. Local voters concurred.

Friction was the result with tree workers flinching as for seven years arbor interests were relegated to the back seat in a department with major responsibilities in a totally different field. Not until after the town manager form of government was instituted did lobbyists for the separation of these two interests make headway, and not until 1961 was a superintendent of forestry appointed to head up a separate tree division within the re-organized Board of Public Works, only recently legally dubbed the Public Works Dept. With the elimination of an elected BPW, the power to create (or eliminate) departments fell to the manager.

Philip A. Busby now has a force of six men, all qualified climbers, capable of operating a multiplicity of arboriculture equipment. Technically, these men are on duty around the clock for they are routed out whenever tree emergencies arise i.e. during hurricanes, electrical storms etc.

In summer they add a seventh man and go about the seasonal business of spraying, a heavy portion of their efforts directed at controlling the sneaky, 1/8 inch Elm Bark Beetle that flies every spring from its diseased and decaying winter home to a healthy hot weather retreat.

Tree Plantings
Phil Busby, himself, a graduate arborist, selects the more than 100 trees that the town plants annually and splits his crew into teams for digging holes, planting, fertilizing and mulching.

Into what was once a Maple and Elm town, Busby is introducing Little Leaf Lindens, Katsuras (a Japanese tree), Oaks, Sweet Gums, Crimson King Maples etc. Busby is talking of such varieties as the Little Lindens, Flowering Cherries or Crab Apple trees as low growth types possible for business district planting if the problems of underlying pipes and overhanging awnings, utilities wires and the like can be ironed out.

And to support history, he has set out Bulseman Elms on Elm St. It is a relatively safe choice, the Holland-developed variety having been proved about 90 percent resistant to Dutch Elm disease.

Keeping trees alive in modern cities and towns just ain't the easy job it used to be when Main St. was a dusty trail. Trees, explains Busby, in their natural environment are surrounded with what it takes to keep their roots cool and healthy. But trees forced to live out their numbered days in macadamized towns where the soil bakes hard, where they are splashed with salt-filled water and snow in winter and threatened by highway construction in summer, have to have real gumption.

And even in tree-loving Andover, vandals take their toll. Busby cites, for example, the theft of a "lovely Sweet Gum" tree stolen from School St. soon after it was planted, and the wanton slashing of Crimson King Maples set out in the mid-town park. These latter trees he saved for a year with a paper wrapping to protect the healing areas, but this was yanked off, leaving the trees to succumb to the killing rays of the sun.

All in all, says Busby, what with droughts and other town-life hazards, "It is amazing to me our trees survive as well as they do."

Abbot Academy, as for several years past, is filled to capacity and in addition has made available space, ordinarily not used for students, for five English "war guests."

The telephone wires are getting hotter and hotter in Andover as the state public utilities commission continues to keep mum on the many complaints about high rates sent by Andover 'phone users. To date, not one letter has been answered by the commission except one sent earlier by Selectman Roy E. Hardy, and this apparent lack of interest on the part of the commission has made the local interest more keen.

Selectman J. Everett Collins successfully negotiated the primary election Tuesday to become the first man in 15 years to stand a chance of being elected representative from this town.

Miss Arline M. Coffey of 4 Sheridan St., Lawrence, has announced the engagement of her sister, Marguerite Ann, to John P. S. Doherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Doherty of 21 Harding St.

The Holt Assn. of America held its 13th annual summer reunion in New England at West Andover on Sunday. About 40 members attended morning worship at West Parish Church.

"The failure to get Route 28 set back over-all industrial promotion from 2-5 years." Thus spoke John O'Malley, industrial development official for the city of Lawrence at a planning board meeting here Monday night. "It's a set-back for Andover, as I see it," he declared, but said the town should continue with plans to develop industrially, despite at least temporary loss of the new highway.

The McAnern family, 145 Hidden Rd., is full of good fish after downing a four-pound, large mouth bass caught by Richard McAnern in Haggett's Pond.

We Ring Bells For United Fund

Western Electric Co. kicked off its Merrimack Valley Works United Fund Drive Monday, using the theme "WE Ring the Bell for United Giving."

From Monday through Friday of the United Giving drive, solicitors are contacting their fellow employees, reminding them that by contributing to this once-a-year campaign they aid immeasurably in the work of a large number of community agencies. Employees are reminded that their donation, which may be made through Western Electric's Payroll Deduction Plan, will benefit the United Fund organizations in their individual cities and towns.

In a letter distributed to all employees, J.M. Nemecek, assistant superintendent, operating, and the chairman of the 1965 United Fund Committee said:

"A goal of $180,687.00 has been set based on our performance in the past, the present Work's population, and reconciled with the needs of the Agencies.

United Fund services help prevent and treat the most costly of social ills . . . juvenile delinquency, disease and family tragedies."

School Office Site Committee's Option

Legally, the location of school administrative offices is the jurisdiction of the School Committee.

This is the ruling of Town Counsel Frederic S. O'Brien whose opinion was sought some weeks ago by the Board of Selectmen and Manager Richard J. Bowen.

The question grew out of earlier talk of the possibility that new school offices, already under discussion, might be located in the new town hall at a savings to the taxpayer. The School Committee has rejected this suggestion, 4-1.

(At least one member of the majority on this question has indicated since that the vote would have been different had the exact intent of the motion been clear.)

O'Brien said in his ruling, given to the Board Monday, that through he could find no clear cut statement in the town charter that the School Committee has the power to provide housing for the school administration, he nevertheless feels such power is inherent in its general control of school property.

In a summation, the legal counsel said: "In my opinion, the town has the duty of providing the quarters, but the School Committee may determine where the quarters will be situated within school property."

Great Books
The first meeting of the Great Books group will be held at the Library, Tuesday evening, Oct. 5 at 7:30. Old and new members are cordially invited to attend the opening session at which the "Book of Job" will be the reading under discussion.

The Staff Recommends
Members of the Library Staff share some of their reading enthusiasms.

Margaret Berry, Children's and School Librarian recommends: Herbert Kubly - AMERICAN IN ITALY - A perceptive visitor tells some things not usually noticed by tourists.

Edith Sitwell - TAKEN CARE OF - Very entertaining - warm praise for friends, and scathing denunciation of people she did not like.

Bel Kaufman - UP THE DOWN STAIRCASE - Funny and also sad revelations of what goes on in a New York City High School.

Elizabeth Russell, Supervisor of Children's Services recommends: M.E. Chase - A JOURNEY TO BOSTON - Interesting characters - local background.

L. P. O. Wibberley - ISLAND OF THE ANGELS - Aman's battle with the elements as he goes to the mainland for medical aid for a sick boy.

Miriam Putnam, Librarian recommends:

Roy Jenkins - ASQUITH - A brilliant biography, often more exciting than a suspense story. Also good reading Violet Bonham Carter's WINSTON CHURCHILL.

Michael Farrell - THY TEARS MUST CEASE - A poignant evocation of adolescence in Ireland before and during the "trouble".

W. A. Swanberg - DREISER - A skillful biography of a gifted, unpredictable, egocentric writer which is at the same time a fascinating backward look at the literary and social scene of the first quarter of the 20th century.

Ethel Wilson, Library Assistant recommends:

Elizabeth Longford - BORN TO SUCCEED - A most interesting biography of Queen Victoria - insight into home life as well as political trials of a ruling monarch.

Arthur Halley - HOTEL - Good fiction - hard to put down - about a large hotel resisting chain management.

Jean Vint, Assistant Librarian recommends: John Weston - JOLLY - Easily the most electrifying book I've read this year. Moving from artless happenings to a horrible crisis, inevitable and all too possible.

William Shakespeare - MEASURE FOR MEASURE - As fresh and artful a presentation of domestic snarls as if Shakespeare wrote it last year.

Bard's Plays For Students

A professional New York theater group will present three of Shakespeare's most popular plays this fall in a series of performances especially aimed at secondary school children.

Shown will be the "The Twelfth Night", "Macbeth" and "Henry the Fifth."

Planning Board Takes Fresh Look At Future

Editor's Note: The Planning Board's Release of its Comprehensive Plan came too near the TOWNSMAN deadline for careful preparation of detailed stories. This we will handle in future issues.

The Andover Planning Board released a Comprehensive Plan for Andover Monday, the product of a one-day study which continues the program initiated by the Board's 1957 Master Plan report.

Major among recommendations based on the changing face of Andover i.e. the reality of Routes 495 and 93, was one calling for the creation of an office-general residence district in built-up residential areas contiguous to the business district.

In capsule form, here are some key points:

- No change in the existing lot-size requirements for single family housing. Emphasis on the use of cluster zoning provisions.

- Development of comprehensive scheme for upgrading of the CBD, including plans for the location of a new Town Office Building and the use of Town-owned land, provision for off-street parking, and encouragement of private action to upgrade properties.

- Improvement of circulation across the Town by construction of an east-west link connecting Abbott Street and Spring Grove Road and Central Street at Lupine Road.

- Improvement of access to the Lowell Junction industrial area, providing more direct connections to both the Dascomb Road and Route 125 interchanges with Route 93.

- Construction of 3 new elementary schools by 1980, the first by 1968 in southeast Andover. New sites should contain at least 15 acres and should include space for recreation facilities.

Estate To Bring Town $300,000

Trustees of the Towle fund reported to the Board of Selectmen Monday that Andover will receive a total of $348,422.58 from the estate of Mrs. Margaret A. Towle, until her death a resident at the corner of Hidden and Porter Rds.

The total estate was valued at $578,211.28. The residue, after expenses and other bequests is what Mrs. Towle willed to Andover.

The income from the bequest will be an estimated $12,000 annually, to be spent for aid to needy though not necessarily indigent citizens.
